

Women, Health & Wealth

You're Invited

Women Professionals are often the money, schedule and wellness managers of their practices and households. These roles create a variety of legal and financial demands, which means understanding practice and wealth management is vital even if they haven't played this role before. Come learn more about your professional legal and personal wealth strategies, and hear from CAMLS CEO, Deborah Sutherland, on how she has established and managed her leadership role within the Healthcare industry.
