May 5, 2022

Greetings,

This week, Ohio held the first Primary of 2022. This included the much anticipated U.S. Senate and Gubernatorial Primary Races. Across Ohio, we see both party primaries continue with the state quo. Across the state, a majority of the races were uncontested, with just a few incumbents with challengers. The May 3, 2022 Primary Election included Governor/Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Auditor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, US Senate, Supreme Court Chief Justice, Supreme Court Justices, and Congressional Districts.

With a new decade and the 2020 Census, the 2022 election cycle includes new congressional maps drawn by the Ohio Redistricting Commission. Due to Ohio's population decrease, Ohio lost a congressional district and now only has 15 districts.

A few key trends from the May 2022 Primary are all incumbents won their respective primary, all President Trump endorsed candidates won, and Republican voters turned out almost 2:1 throughout the state than Democrat voters.

The May 3, 2022 Primary did not include State House Districts or State Senate Districts. Those races will be on a primary towards the end of the summer; the legislature nor the Commission have set a new date for the summer primary. The State Supreme Court struck down the Ohio Redistricting Commission fourth set of state legislative maps, and the Commission is currently working on passing the fifth set. The federal court ruled that if the Commission does not pass a set of state legislative maps that are upheld by the Supreme Court and a new primary date set, the federal court will mandate the third set of maps passed on February 28th be used for an August 2nd Primary.

The Post Primary Election Report, Part One, gives an in depth look at each parties candidates for the General Election, key insights, and an overview of the new congressional districts.

Shumaker Advisors will continue to provide election reports throughout the 2022 election cycle to prepare your organization and interests for 2023 and the new and returning elected officials.

Sincerely,

Andrew W. Herf

GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbents Mike DeWine & John Husted (R)

vs.

Challenger Nan Whaley & Cheryl Stephens (D)

Governor Mike DeWine (R) and Lieutenant Governor Jon Husted (R) won the Republican Primary with 48.13 percent of the vote. Despite criticism of the administration’s response and handling of the COVID-19 pandemic, primary challengers fractured the anti-DeWine vote, which allowed for DeWine/Husted to win with a comfortable margin of 20.11 points; Renacci/Knopp received 28.02 percent, Blystone/Workman received 21.77 percent, and Hood/Keller received 2.08 percent. The Ohio Republican Party endorsed DeWine/Husted, while Clermont, Butler, and Cuyahoga County Republican Parties chose to endorse Renacci/Knopp. Despite President Trump pushing for a primary challenger to DeWine, President Trump did not endorse in the gubernatorial primary. DeWine is currently the 70th Governor and Husted is the 66th Lieutenant Governor. Over the last four years, the DeWine/Husted Administration worked to bring the $20 billion Intel Semiconductor Factory project to Ohio, expanded gun access through “stand your ground” and “constitutional carry” legislation, oversaw a variety of measures to reduce the spread of COVID-19, and the Hour Bill (HB) 6/FirstEnergy Solutions bailout. Governor DeWine previously served as Ohio Attorney General (2011–2019), US Senator (1995–2007), Lieutenant Governor (1991–1994), Congressman (1983–1991), Ohio State Senator (1981–1982), and Greene County Prosecutor (1977–1981). He earned his undergraduate degree from Miami University, Oxford, and his J.D. from Ohio Northern University College of Law. Lieutenant Governor Husted previously served as Secretary of State (2011–2019), Ohio State Senator (2009–2011), Ohio State Representative

2022 Democratic Gubernatorial Race
Governor Candidate	Lieutenant Candidate	% of Vote
Whaley	Stephens	64.99%
Cranley	Fedor	35.01%

Nan Whaley (D) and Cheryl Stephens (D) won the Democratic Primary by a margin of 29.98 points. Whaley's main campaign issues were economic and workforce development, universal broadband, early childhood education, and infrastructure. The Ohio Democratic Party chose not to endorse in the gubernatorial primary. Whaley previously served as Mayor of Dayton (2014–2022), and Dayton City Commissioner (2006–2014). She earned her undergraduate degree from the University of Dayton and her master's degree from Wright State University. Stephens previously served as Cuyahoga County Council Member (2019–Current), Mayor of Cleveland Heights (2016–2018), and Cleveland Heights City Council Member (2009–2016). She earned her master's from the University of Dayton.

With incumbents DeWine/Husted winning over 48 percent of the Republican vote, shows that across the state has fractured, but will rally behind the incumbent Governor and statewide ticket. Coming into the General Election, the DeWine campaign has both incumbency and name recognition, and will focus on the administrations accomplishments around economic development, the COVID-19 pandemic, and his pro-life record. Whaley/Stephens easily won the Democratic vote, showing that the Democratic Party is ready support the first woman to run for Governor. The Whaley campaign will now work to engage with voters about a relatively unknown statewide ticket and increase voter turnout. Over twice as many Republican voters (1,068,817) turned out for the Primary Election compared to Democratic voters (502,100). The Whaley/Stephens main campaign issues will include state corruption, "common sense" gun policy, pro-choice record, and supporting working families. DeWine/Husted won by a margin of 3.7 points in 2018 and Democrats have only held the Governor's office twice in the last 40 years. This November, Ohio will see if Republicans continue their grasp on the executive branch.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Dave Yost (R)

vs.

Challenger Jeffery Crossman (D)

Both Attorney General Dave Yost (R) and Jeffery Crossman (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. Yost is the 51st Attorney General of Ohio and was elected in 2018 by a margin of 4.32 points. Over the last four years, Attorney General Yost has focused on battling the opioid epidemic, standing up for victims of human trafficking, solving cold-case homicides and sexual assaults, and shielding Ohio consumers from scammers and robocallers. The Ohio Republican Party endorsed Yost in the Primary. Attorney General Yost previously served as Auditor of State (2011–2019), Delaware County Prosecutor (2003–2010), and Delaware County Auditor (1999–2003). He received his undergraduate degree from The Ohio State University and his J.D. from Capital University Law School.

Crossman is currently a State Representative for House District 15. While in the legislature, his focus has been government transparency, and overturning HB 6/ FirstEnergy Solutions Bailout. His main campaign issues are fairness, accountability, and transparency in government. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Crossman in the Primary. Crossman previously served as Ohio State Representative (2019 – Current), and Parma City Council Member (2014 – 2019). He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Mount Union, his master's degree from the University of Akron, his J.D. from Cleveland-Marshall College of Law.

As an incumbent and running with DeWine/Husted, Yost is off to a significant start. Over twice as many Republican voters (861,082) came out to vote for Yost than Democrats (427,024) who came out for Crossman. The ballot saw a 19.44 percent drop in Republican voters between the Gubernatorial and Attorney General races, compared to a 14.05 percent drop in Democratic voters. Depending on the momentum the Democratic Ticket can create, Attorney General Yost will most likely focus on his record throughout the General Election.

AUDITOR OF STATE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Keith Faber (R)

vs.

Challenger Taylor Sappington (D)

Both Auditor Keith Faber (R) and Taylor Sappington (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. Faber is the 33rd Auditor of State and was elected in 2018 with a margin of 3.38 points. Over the last four years, Auditor Faber has focused on government accountability, reduction of regulation and red tape, reduction in spending, government efficiency, and improvement in higher education affordability and efficiency. The Ohio Republican Party endorsed Faber in the Primary. Auditor Faber previously served as Ohio State Representative (2001–2007, 2017–2019), Ohio State Senator (2007–2016), and Ohio Senate President (2013–2016). He received his undergraduate degree from Oakland University, and his J.D. from The Ohio State University.

Sappington's main campaign issues are removing political corruption and public transparency. He is the first LGBTQ major party candidate for statewide office in Ohio. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Sappington in the Primary. Sappington previously served as Nelsonville City Auditor (2019–Current), and Nelsonville City Council Member (2015–2019). He received both his undergraduate and master's degrees from Ohio University.

As an incumbent, running with DeWine/Husted, and the current attention around the Redistricting Commission, Auditor Faber is starting with a huge lead over Sappington. A little under twice as many Republican voters (801,324) for Auditor than Democrats (420,785). Throughout the General Election, Democrats will need to focus on voter turnout and having voters vote through the ballot.

SECRETARY OF STATE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Frank LaRose(R)
vs.
Challenger Chelsea Clark (D)

Secretary of State Frank LaRose (R) won the Republican Primary with a margin of 29.32 points. Despite criticism of LaRose’s handling of the 2020 election by his opponent, John Adams, LaRose received President Trump’s endorsement. LaRose is the 51st Secretary of State and was

2022 Republican Secretary of
Candidate	Vote %
LaRose	64.66%
Adams	35.34%

elected in 2018 with a margin of 4.2 points. He is a veteran of the Army Special Forces, received the Bronze Star for his service, and is currently a reservist in the U.S. Army. Over the last four years, Secretary LaRose focused on election audits, oversaw the 2020 General Election that had the highest turnout in history, and streamlined the new business filing process.

The Ohio Republican Party endorsed LaRose in the Primary. Secretary LaRose previously served as Ohio State Senator (2011–2019). He earned his undergraduate degree from The Ohio State University.

Chelsea Clark (D) ran unopposed in the Democratic Primary. Her main campaign issues are expanding ballot drop boxes, extending early voting to 35 days, setting up automatic voter registration, and eliminating voter purges. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Clark in the Primary. Clark previously served as Forest Park City Council Member (2017–current). She earned her undergraduate degree from Miami University, Oxford.

As an incumbent, a Trump Endorsement in the Primary and the current attention around the Redistricting Commission, LaRose is starting with name recognition and a strong ticket. Clark, like others on the Democratic ticket will need to rely on building ticket strength and voter turnout. Despite being the Secretary of State and being fourth on the ballot, the Republican ballot saw an increase in voters between Auditor (801,324) and Secretary of State (938,958). This is most likely due to LaRose having a primary challenger unlike Faber.

TREASURER OF STATE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Robert Sprague (R)

vs.

Challenger Scott Schertzer (D)

Both Auditor Keith Faber (R) and Taylor (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. Sprague is the 49th Treasurer of State and was elected in 2018 with a margin of 6.6 points. Over the last four years, Treasurer Sprague has focused on ResultsOHIO, which established an infrastructure within the Treasurer's office to evaluate and support pay-for-success programs aimed at combatting the social and public health challenges facing Ohio; Family Forward, a program designed to support prospective parents navigating the adoption process, and the STABLE Account program, which empowers individuals living with disabilities with specialized savings and investment accounts. The Ohio Republican Party endorsed Sprague in the Primary. Treasurer Sprague previously served as Ohio State Representative (2011–2019), Findlay City Auditor (2007–2009), and Findlay City Treasurer (2006–2009). He received his undergraduate degree from Duke University and his MBA from the University of North Carolina – Chapel Hill.

Schertzer's main campaign focus is political corruption. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Schertzer in the Primary. He previously served as Mayor of Marion (2008–current), and Marion City Council Member (1999–2008). Schertzer earned his undergraduate degree from The University of Toledo.

With the well-known ticket and Trump messaging still moving Ohio voters, the Whaley/Stephens campaign and Democrats will need to not just focus on voter turnout, but recognition and messaging in order to have voters vote down the ballot.

SUPREME COURT CHIEF JUSTICE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Sharon Kennedy (R)

vs.

Jennifer Brunner (D)

Both Justice Sharon Kennedy (R) and Justice Jennifer Brunner (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. With current Chief Justice O'Connor unable to run again and the first time the General Election will have partisan designation's on judicial races, the Chief Justice race is a significant opportunity for each party. Also, both the Congressional and the State Legislative maps will most likely go through several redraws, Chief Justice O'Connor has regularly broken with her Republican counterparts and made the majority with the Democratic Justices. This issue was a main campaign focus throughout the primary, and will most likely continue in the General Election.

Justice Kennedy has been the 154th Justice of the Supreme Court since 2013. She won her previous Justice races by margins of 10.2 points (2020), 45 points (2014), and 14.06 points (2012). She earned her undergraduate degree from Miami University, Oxford, and her J.D. from Capital University Law School.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Pat Fischer (R)

vs.

Challenger Terri Jamison (D)

Both Justice Pat Fischer (R) and Terri Jamison (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. Justice Fischer has been the 157th Justice of the Supreme Court since 2017. Jamison received her undergraduate degree from Franklin University and her J.D. from Capital University Law School.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Pat DeWine (R)

vs.

Challenger Marilyn Zayas (D)

Both Justice Pat DeWine (R) and Terri Jamison (D) ran unopposed in their respective primaries. Justice DeWine has been the 158th Justice of the Supreme Court since 2017. He received his undergraduate degree from Miami University, Oxford, and his J.D. from University of Michigan Law School. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Zayas in the Primary. If elected, Zayas would be the first Latina Ohio Supreme Court Justice. She previously served as Judge of Ohio First District Court of Appeals (2017–current). Zayas received her undergraduate degree from City College of New York and her J.D. from University of Cincinnati.

U.S. SENATOR

GENERAL ELECTION:

J.D. Vance (R)

vs.

Tim Ryan (D)

J.D. Vance (R) won the Republican Primary with 32.2 percent of the vote. Vance’s main campaign issues are conservative family values, restoring the manufacturing industries, supporting small business, dismantling big tech, and spending and inflation. Vance is an author, veteran of the Marine Corps, and a venture capitalist. Throughout the primary, most of his opponents sought President Trump’s endorsement and President Trump announced his endorsement of Vance on April 16th in the Primary. The Ohio Republican Party chose not to endorse a candidate in the Primary Election. Although several county parties did endorse in the primary, none choose to endorse Vance. He received his undergraduate degree from The Ohio State University and his J.D. from Yale Law School.

2022 Republican Senate Race
Candidate	Vote %
Vance	32.20%
Mandel	23.89%
Dolan	23.33%
Gibbons	11.65%
Timken	5.88%
Purkita	2.12%
Patel	0.93%

Tim Ryan (D) won the Democratic Primary by a margin of 56 points. His main campaign issues are union rights, raising wages, the opioid crisis, restoring manufacturing industries, affordable health care, infrastructure, and rural investment. He is currently the Co-Chair of the Congressional Addiction, Treatment and Recovery Caucus, and Congressional Manufacturing Caucus. The Ohio Democratic Party endorsed Ryan over Morgan Harper in the Primary Election. Ryan previously served as Congressman (2003–current), and Ohio State Senator (2001–2002). He received his undergraduate degree from Bowling Green University, and his J.D. from University of New Hampshire School of Law.

2022 Democratic Senate Race
Candidate	Vote %
Ryan	69.71%
Harper	17.73%
Johnson	12.56%

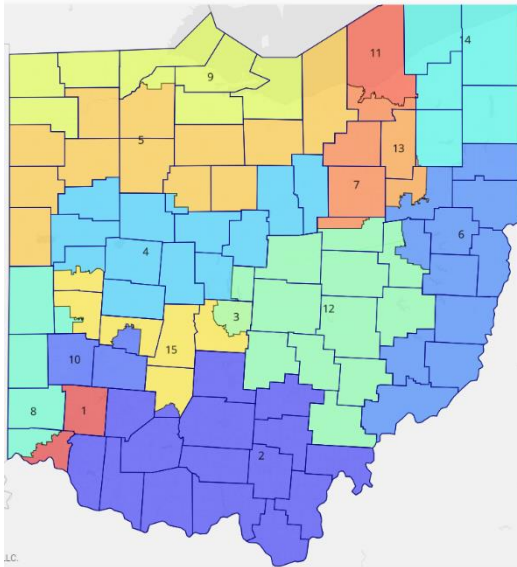

Vance winning the Republican nominee shows that President Trump is still relevant in Ohio and invigorate voters. Vance is likely to continue to push the statewide Republican ticket towards America First policy and reunite the Trump base. Ryan will continue to push populist messaging around state industry and foreign policy as he did in the Primary. The key will be where the moderate vote stands between the two candidates.

2022 CONGRESSIONAL MAP

Overview

Every 10 years, Ohio re-draws both the congressional district map and the state legislative district maps. Because of the 2020 Census showed that Ohio lost population, Ohio now has 15 Congressional Districts.

Ohio has new redistricting rules steaming from the 2015 and 2018 referendums, which got approximately 70 percent support statewide. The new rules create the Ohio Redistricting Commission, which draws and passes the maps. If a map receives bi-partisan support, the map will be in effect for 10 years (five election cycles), but if the map only receives majority party support, the map is in effect for four years (two election cycles).

Throughout the congressional redistricting process, the minority party has not given support for any maps that were passed by the Commission. The current 2022 Congressional Map is still being litigated in the courts. The Ohio Redistricting Commission or the legislature will likely have to come back after the 2022 General Election to redraw the Congressional Map.

The current 2022 Congressional Map has 15 districts, two solid Democrat, one lean Democrat, two competitive, three lean Republican, and seven solid Republican. There are currently 13 incumbents running (two Democrat and 11 Republican) in new districts, while the two open seats each lean republican and democrat has a Trump endorsed candidate.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT: OH - 01

GENERAL ELECTION:

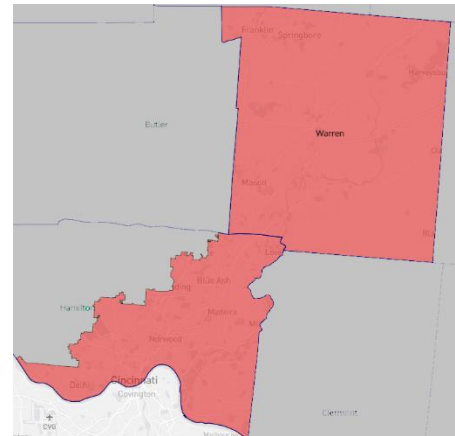

Incumbent Steve Chabot (R)

vs.

Challenger Greg Landsman (D)

Congressional District 01 includes Eastern Hamilton County and all of Warren County. OH – 01 is a tossup seat with a 1.98 margin towards Democrat, it includes 49.91percent Democrat, 47.93 percent Republican, 29.77percent minority, and 19.65 percent black. Landsman campaign issues are early childhood education, renewable energy, housing, and wages. Landsman previously served as Cincinnati City Council Member (2017–Current). He earned his undergraduate degree from Ohio University and his master’s degree from Harvard Divinity School.

The current index shows that Congressman Chabot may be vulnerable to losing reelection, but incumbency and Trump messaging may be on his side through the General.

2022 Republican OH - 02 Race
Candidate	Vote %

by margins of 22.2 points (2020), 16.4 points (2018), 32.2 points (2016), 32 points (2014), and 17.2 points (2012). His main campaign issues are job and economic development, national security, repealing the Affordable Care Act, expanding gun

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT: OH - 07

GENERAL ELECTION:

Max Miller (R)

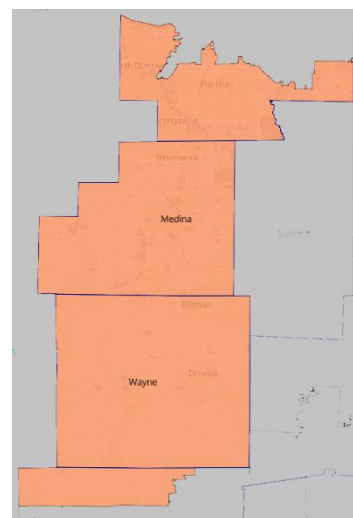

vs.

Miller received his undergraduate degree from the University of Findlay.

Matthew Diemer ran unopposed after the other Democratic candidates withdrew. His main campaign issues include supporting small businesses, restoring manufacturing industries, and reaching across the aisle. He is an entrepreneur, investor, and hosts a podcast show about local news and politics.

Miller already pushing out two sitting Congressmen and with an early Trump endorsement gives him a solid lead coming into November. Depending on the Diemer Campaign performance and the Democratic statewide ticket, the run to the General Election may be long for Diemer.

Previously Enoch has ran and lost against Congressman Davidson in 2020 by a margin of 38 points. Like other past races where challengers re-run against incumbents, it will be interesting to see if she does loose, if the margin increases. Davidson will likely win due to incumbency and the district heavily leaning Republican.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT: OH - 09

GENERAL ELECTION:

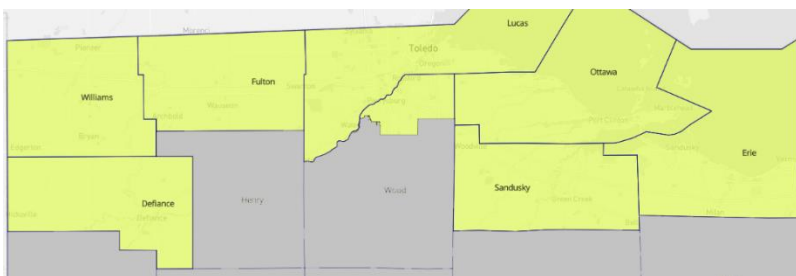

Incumbent Marcy Kaptur (D)

vs.

Challenger J.R. Majewski (R)

Congressional District 09 consists of seven full counties and one partial county including Defiance County, Williams County, Fulton County, Lucas County, Ottawa County, Sandusky County, Erie County and Northern Wood County (Perrysburg, Northwood, and Millbury). OH-09 is a tossup seat with a 0.14 margin lean towards Democrats, the district statistics are 48.77 percent Democrat, 48.63 percent Republican, 22.30 percent minority, and 12.63 percent black. This is the most competitive district.

Incumbent Congresswoman Marcy Kaptur (D) ran unopposed in the Democratic Primary. She has been in Congress since 1983, and is the longest serving woman in the House and the second longest serving woman of all time in Congress. She won her previous congressional races by an average margin of 42.8 points over the last 20 election cycles; 26 points (2020), 36 points (2018), 32 points (2016), 36 points (2014), 50 points (2012), 18 points (2010), 48 points (2008), 48 points (2006), 36 points (2004), 48 points (2002), 53 points (2000), 62 points (1998), 56 points (1996), 50 points (1994), 52 points (1992), 56 points (1990), 62 points (1988), 56 points (1986), 12 points (1984), and 19 points (1982). Congresswoman Kaptur received her undergraduate degree from University of Wisconsin, Madison and her master's degree from the University of Michigan.

J.R Majewski handily won the OH-09 Republican Primary in a stunning double upset. The common thinking in the Republican Primary was that the race would come down to two state legislators whose current districts overlap the newly drawn congressional district. State Senator Theresa Gavarone currently represents 40 percent of the district and State Representative Craig Riedel represents four percent of the district. Large conservative Washington-based super PACs engaged in the race on behalf of Riedel and Gavarone. J.R. Majewski announced his candidacy earlier than the other candidates and had a solid showing in the counties he did not carry. Majewski carried Lucas, Ottawa, Sandusky and Erie Counties. Gavarone carried Wood and Fulton Counties, while Riedel carried Williams and Defiance Counties. In the counties that Gavarone won, Riedel came in third. In the counties Riedel won, Gavarone came in third. Riedel and Gavarone focused their messaging against each other in the perceived battleground counties leaving an opening for Majewski who came in second in every county he did not win outright. Majewski was not endorsed by President Trump, but he was mentioned at a recent Trump Rally, has engaged with Trump on Twitter, and attended the January 6, 2021 Trump Rally. He is a veteran of the Air Force and works as a senior leader in the nuclear industry.

Looking towards the General Election, Congresswoman Kaptur will have a tough road to a potential reelection due to the competitive index and Trump's messaging continuing to resonate with Ohio voters.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT: OH – 10

GENERAL ELECTION:

Incumbent Michael Turner (R)

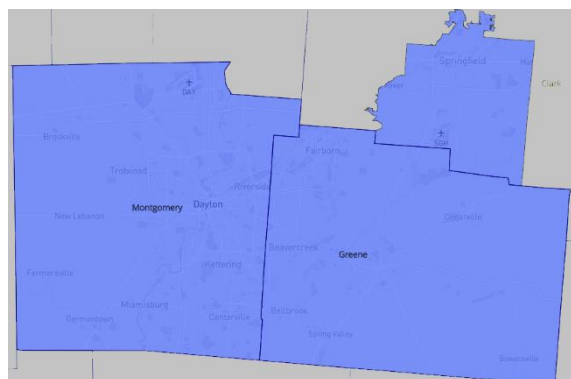

vs.

Challenger David Esrati (D)

Congressional District Ten includes entirely the counties of Montgomery and Green, and a portion of Clark County (Springfield). The District is a Republican seat with a 6.89 margin towards Republicans, it includes 45.41 percent Democrat, 52.30 percent Republican, 26.48 percent minority, and 17.93 percent black.

He is a veteran of the Army, runs a political blog called The Esrati Report, and owns an ad agency, The Next Wave. Esrati received his undergraduate degree from Wright State University.

Although the district has slightly closer margin than in other districts across the state, Congressman Turner's incumbency, America First messaging, and the district index, Esrati will need to run a good campaign in order to break through the district.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT: OH - 11

Rippel Elton will have an uphill battle to win OH-12 over Congressman Balderson simply due to the district index.
