Hannah is a member of the Wealth Strategies Service Line, focusing her practice on estate planning and corporate tax and transactions, including business creation/succession planning. A 2021 graduate of the University of South Carolina School of Law, she interned for a boutique probate law firm in Alabama, where she gained extensive experience in estate planning and administration and began her law career after graduation. She is barred in both South Carolina and Alabama.

In law school, Hannah also:

- Chaired the ambassadors program and a member of the mock trial team
- Participated in pro bono programs through both Guardian Ad Litem and tax assistance organizations

Hannah and her husband own Wellington Golf Co., a golf lifestyle brand that combines his love of the sport and her love of travel. The company is named after their beloved dog, Wellington (whom they affectionately call "Wellie"). Hannah also enjoys reading with a glass of wine, traveling, and cheering on Auburn sports teams.
