Rhett represents a variety of companies, family offices, and private equity firms across a broad range of financing, equity investment, opportunity zone, transactional, and tax matters. Focused on mergers and acquisitions (M&A), capital financing, and domestic and international tax laws, he has a deep understanding of tax issues arising from partnerships, M&A, opportunity zone investments, financial products, and investment funds.

A seasoned corporate and tax attorney, Rhett brings a unique perspective to his clients' business and transactional matters. His experience extends to:

- Past stock and asset acquisitions
- Tax-free reorganizations
- Multifaceted and complex transactions,
- Partnerships, consolidated groups, and net operating losses
- Captive insurance, controlled foreign corporations, passive foreign investment companies, the Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act (FIRPTA), corporate inversions, and import tariffs
- Restructurings, joint ventures, and project financings

Rhett enjoys skiing, watersports, and playing tennis any chance he gets.
