Elizabeth is a litigator and business lawyer who provides value at all stages of a dispute, from pre-litigation training on legal best practices to zealous advocacy in complex business and commercial lawsuits. She represents clients of all sizes and industries—including individuals, mom-and-pop businesses, and publicly traded Fortune 500 companies operating in finance, technology, health care, commercial lending, and insurance, among others.

As a former special education teacher, Elizabeth is first and foremost a problem solver. She successfully crafts creative arguments and negotiates innovative settlements in litigation, working to obtain optimal results for her clients. As a business partner, Elizabeth helps develop legal solutions that ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations within real-world parameters.

Having begun her legal career with the United States Department of Justice's U.S. Trustee Program, where she federally prosecuted bankruptcy fraud and abuse in civil cases, Elizabeth also has extensive experience representing creditors, commercial debtors, and other interested parties in all phases of Chapter 7, 13, 11, and Subchapter V bankruptcy cases and adversary proceedings throughout the United States. She provides additional value by helping clients rework their policies, procedures, and business
