Clients and colleagues alike appreciate Krystal’s steadfast dedication to her practice. Using her sharp attention to detail ensures deadlines and other pressing needs are met to resolve matters as efficiently and effectively as possible. As a seasoned paralegal at Shumaker, she assists attorneys practicing in Litigation & Disputes; Real Estate, Construction & Development; and Environmental & Energy, bringing her decades of experience and solutions-oriented approach to client matters.

Krystal has worked on cases ranging from railroad workers’ injuries, whistleblowers, and medical malpractice to collections, bankruptcy, and police brutality. She regularly drafts and reviews a variety of case materials—such as demand letters, complaints, discovery requests and responses, and various motions and notices to the court—helping clients move their disputes along the path to resolution.

In her free time, Krystal enjoys playing board games with her husband, reading, baking, and crocheting doilies.
