Rhett's practice is focused on mergers and acquisitions (M&A), capital financing, and both domestic and international tax laws. He has a deep understanding of tax issues arising from partnerships, M&A, opportunity zone investments, financial products, investment funds, and controversies with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. His insights and experience will be invaluable in addressing the nuanced challenges faced by Shumaker's clients in an ever-evolving tax landscape.

We are thrilled to welcome Rhett to the Shumaker family," said Phil Chubb, Partner and Corporate, Tax and Transactions Regional Service Line Leader at Shumaker. "His strategic approach to transactions and tax background will significantly enhance our bench strength and enhance our service offerings to clients."

Rhett joins Shumaker as an associate in the Corporate, Tax and Transactions Service Line. He brings a unique perspective to his clients' business and transactional matters. Rhett's experience extends past stock and asset acquisitions to include tax-free reorganizations—transactions which are often multifaceted and require complex structuring to accommodate the business and tax considerations of the parties involved.
