In her board role, Sara will help support the clinic's mission, strengthen community awareness, and advance access to compassionate services for parents and families. Life Options Clinic also offers support for single mothers and single fathers, as well as free testing for sexually transmitted infections.

"Life Options Clinic provides an important source of care, information, and encouragement for people navigating difficult and deeply personal circumstances," Sara said. "I am honored to join the board and look forward to helping the organization expand its reach and continue serving individuals and families with dignity and compassion."

Sara is committed to supporting the health and well-being of the community. She is a member of the American College of Healthcare Executives and serves as a member of the Baptist Health Care Foundation Women's Board.

Sara brings to the board extensive experience in government relations, health care advocacy, nonprofit leadership, community engagement, and strategic planning. Her ability to navigate complex policy environments, build productive relationships with decision makers and community partners, and connect organizations with the people and resources needed to advance their missions will help Life Options Clinic strengthen its community impact and expand awareness of its services.

"Sara's deep understanding of health care, policy, and community partnerships makes her a tremendous addition to our board," said Cindy Roberts, CEO of Life Options Clinic. "Her insight and connections will help us reach more individuals and families who need our services and ensure they know they don't have to face an unplanned pregnancy alone."
