Shumaker Grows Toledo Office with Three New Associates, Strengthening Litigation, Corporate, and Real Estate Capabilities

TOLEDO, OH — Shumaker has expanded its Toledo office with the addition of three associates: Micaela R. Eberhard in the Litigation & Disputes Service Line, Tatiana Shaheen in the Corporate, Tax & Transactions Service Line, and Nick D. Walters in the Real Estate, Construction & Development Service Line. Their arrival deepens the bench available to clients across Northwest Ohio and beyond.

Together, Micaela, Tatiana, and Nick add depth across the disciplines that drive many of the firm's clients' most important business, transactional, and dispute-related needs. As associates, they will work alongside Shumaker partners and service line teams to help clients resolve disputes, structure and close transactions, and move real estate, construction, and development projects forward with confidence.

"We are pleased to welcome Micaela, Tatiana, and Nick to our Toledo office," said Reed Hauptman, Toledo Managing Partner at Shumaker. "Adding talented associates across our Litigation & Disputes, Corporate, Tax & Transactions, and Real Estate, Construction & Development Service Lines expands our capacity to serve clients and reflects our continued investment in the next generation of Shumaker lawyers."

The additions underscore Shumaker's commitment to its Toledo roots, where the firm was founded more than 100 years ago, and to building a strong, multidisciplinary team that can respond to clients' evolving needs.
