

Thomas C. Blank

PARTNER

Tom has focused his practice on representing financial institutions for over 30 years, with particular experience serving banks, bank holding companies, and stand-alone trust companies.

Tom assists financial institutions with the following:

- Public securities offerings and private placements
- Ongoing counsel regarding reporting obligations under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934
- Interactions with both federal and state banking and securities agencies on a wide variety of regulatory issues, including enforcement actions and agreements, as well as general corporate matters
- Merger and acquisition transactions for community banking organizations, including purchase and sale of institutions, subsidiaries and branches

Tom was a founding member of, and continues to serve as General Counsel and Secretary to, the Association of Trust Organizations (formerly known as the Association of Independent Trust Companies, Inc.), a trade association of trust organizations, including non-depository trust companies.
