

Gregory M. Marks

PARTNER

Greg represents businesses and their owners, particularly entrepreneurs, developers, and investors involved in startups, acquisitions, and the sales and reorganization of business entities of all kinds. He has been involved in the organization of thousands of limited liability companies, partnerships, and other entities, as well as the selection and implementation of organizational structures for many types of domestic and international business enterprises and transactions.

His areas of focus include federal and state tax rules and organizational statutes governing partnerships and limited liability companies. Greg has played a significant role in drafting Florida's laws governing business structure over the years.

Greg also has extensive experience in:

- Tax rules in real estate development and investment
- Tax-free exchanges and related structuring
- Debt refinancing and work-outs
- Employee incentive arrangements
- Mezzanine financing structures
- Private equity venture capital funding, syndications, and other strategic transactions, including the negotiation and drafting of documentation for those matters
