

Frederick M. Thurman, Jr.

PARTNER

Working on a wide-ranging portfolio of projects and issues, Derick primarily counsels clients in employment law compliance and represents clients in employment-related litigation, as well as employee benefits litigation, business torts, estate bond litigation, land use, and general commercial litigation. He has held numerous leadership roles, including serving as chair of the Labor and Employment Law Section of the North Carolina Bar Association and Chair of the Employment Law Section of the Mecklenburg County Bar. He frequently leads continuing legal education presentations.

Experienced in representing clients in both federal and state courts and before regulatory agencies, Derick has extensive experience in:

- Appellate briefing and arguments, jury trials, arbitrations, and hearings before various government agencies
- On the compliance counseling side of his practice, advising business clients on matters such as personnel policy drafting and review, employment contract drafting and review, and similar matters

Outside the office, Derick enjoys spending time with his family, cooking, and running. He has completed 13 half marathons.
